

UPDATE: SPYR Announces Steven Universe: Tap Together, New Game Launching Soon in Collaboration With Cartoon Network

DENVER CO, March 22, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- SPYR, INC. (OTC Pink: SPYR), a holding company with a wholly owned subsidiary in the mobile game & app development and publishing industry, today announced that it will publish Steven Universe: Tap Together, a new mobile game based on Cartoon Network's hit animated series Steven Universe. Steven Universe: Tap Together

Steven Universe: Tap Together

Steven Universe: Tap Together will be an all-new idle tapper game where players can collect all of the Crystal Gems and Steven's friends from Beach City to fight off the never-ending stream of imaginary monsters. Defeating each monster gives players XP to level up their team and coins to unlock new characters and abilities. Cartoon Network's Emmy-nominated Steven Universe revolves around Steven, the "little brother" to a team of magical aliens the Crystal Gems who defend the planet Earth. Steven is the son of the Crystal Gems' late leader Rose Quartz and aging aspiring rockstar Mr. Universe. Steven belongs everywhere and nowhere: he has inherited his mother's Gem and her magical powers, but also his father's humanity and charm. The show is a slice-of-life action comedy that follows Steven as he attempts to bridge the gap between the sci-fi fantasy world of Gems and the cozy, funny, simple-yet-extraordinarily-complicated world of human beings. Steven Universe is created by Emmy and Annie Award-nominated writer and New York Times bestselling author Rebecca Sugar, and produced by Cartoon Network Studios.

Mike Turner, SPYR's VP of Strategic Partnerships states, "Everyone at SPYR is very excited to announce our licensing relationship with Cartoon Network to bring the Steven Universe world to life in this innovative new title from Reset. Steven Universe's very broad and active fan base will feel the passion that went into creating this game, we are fans of the IP ourselves, and based on our collaboration with Cartoon Network and Reset Studios, we are confident it's going to be a hit. SPYR is bringing another quality game into our portfolio, adding the tapper/idle genre, which is seeing a lot of success in the market these days; so this is exactly the kind of game we should be publishing, and I am excited for fans and gamers to see what we have been working on.

SPYR previously announced a publishing agreement with Reset Studios, the developer with which SPYR would be publishing a new tapper game (<https://ir.spyr.com/press-releases/detail/196/spyr-signs-multi-game-publishing-deal>), and that the first would feature characters and storylines from a well-known animated television series pursuant to a license from a major television network (<https://ir.spyr.com/press-releases/detail/198/spyr-obtains-intellectual-property-ip-license-from-a>). SPYR is now proud to announce that it will soon be launching an all-new Steven Universe tapper game, built on top of Reset's game tech, and leveraging Reset's extensive experience in the RPG genre.

Steven Universe: Tap Together will have a full global launch by summer of 2018.
